POLICE TRAIL ANOTHER LEAD IN ABDUCTION

INVESTIGATE STORY OF OLD PLOT TO STEAL BABY

BY FRANCIS A JAMIESON,
(Ass'd Press Staff Writer)

Jersey City, N. J., Mar 15 (AP)—A lead in the two-week-old Lindbergh kidnaping case, described as "important enough to be taken seriously," was being tracked down tonight by detectives as they investigated the story of an old plot to steal the famous flier's son.

The importance of the clue was stressed by Joseph Fishman, deputy commissioner of corrections of New York City, after he had brought a prisoner from the Tombs prison in New York City to Jersey City to confront two persons he charged with being in on the plot.

The prisoner, who has been a mysterious figure in the case for days and was interviewed in the Tombs by a confidential representative of Colonel Lindbergh last week, was identified today as John Smith when he left New York. It was learned, however, his real name is Charles Fitzgerald.

"Contact" With Nurse

Present at the conference of Jersey City and Newark police officials were William Gleason and a women, identified as Mrs. Catherine Danusek. They were taken into custody for questioning yesterday.

Fitzgerald's story is that he, Gleason, Mrs. Danusek and two brothers planned to kidnap the Lindbergh boy months ago, that Mrs. Danusek was to take care of the baby after he had been abducted, but that he (Fitzgerald) was arrested and jailed before the plan materialized.

He was quoted as saying that "contact" had been made with Betty Gow, the Lindbergh child's nursemaid.

State police at Hopewell, however, a short time before had reiterated an almost daily statement—that "so far nothing has been discovered that would connect Betty Gow with this crime." The state police said she was remaining on the Lindbergh estate voluntarily.

Fitzgerald told the police officials and detectives that Gleason was in the Hudson county jail at Jersey City when the plot was hatched.

Mrs. Danusek, with whom Gleason is said to board, disclaimed any knowledge of the scheme.

Under police questioning she told how Fitzgerald called on her while Gleason was in jail, expressing anxiety of how he was going to secure his friend's release and said he was going to retain a New York lawyer to try to "beat the case."

The names of the two other persons Fitzgerald said were involved were not made public, but it was known an intensive hunt for them had been launched.

There were reported to be discrepancies in Fitzgerald's story, but as the second week since the abduction drew to a close, with the stolen child still missing, authorities were seeking diligently for some clue that might lead them somewhere, and this one was being pursued with vigor.

Investigate Story

Mrs. Danusek was released early in the evening, but Gleason was still being held late tonight.

In his last statement of the night from the Lindbergh home Colonel H. Norman Schwarzkopf said he had received only an informal report on that phase of the investigation. He withheld comment until he had received transcripts of the statements made by those questioned.

He also was asked the following question:

"Have you investigated a story told by Mr. and Mrs. C. Leandro

LABOR OPPOSES TAX ON SALES

Grange Leader Also Is Against Levy on Manufactures

BY CECIL B. DICKSON,
(Associated Press Staff Writer)

Washington, Mar. 15 (AP)—Higher hurdles for the controversial manufacturers' sales tax were raised today in the house.

Concerted efforts in both parties to organize in opposition to the 2.25 percent levy began and at the same time the American Federation of Labor and the National Grange said they were against the proposal.

A meeting to form a Democratic anti-sales tax bloc was called for tomorrow night. Republican independents plan to assemble soon for a like purpose.

Prospective Yield Cut

President William Green of the labor federation said the position of his organization was based upon its traditional opposition to all forms of sales tax legislation.

"The imposition of a general sales tax would meet with the unqualified disapproval of the 27 million people upon the farms of this country," a statement issued by Fred Brenckman, Washington representative of the Grange said.

The house was told by Acting Chairman Crisp of the ways and means committee that it would offer amendments to eliminate from the sales levy canned fruits, vegetables and meats and fish, both canned and smoked. Levies on these articles have been strongly opposed, and their removal was expected to lessen somewhat the hostility.

Their elimination reduced the prospective yield of the sales levy from $595,000,000 to about $584,000,000. The $11,000,000 is to be raised through other taxes in order that the bill may balance the budget.

After informing President Hoover at the White House that sentiment appeared favorable for passage of the bill by the house, Representative Snell of New York, the Republican leader, spoke over the radio, saying:

"The balancing of the budget is of greater importance to the republic than is the political future of any individual. x x x

"As Republican leader of the house, I call upon my party associates to join our Democratic friends in supporting this bill and thus show the people that their representatives can rise above partisanship and exercise statesmanship in a patriotic effort to save the government's credit."

Representatives Of 52,000,000 People Voted Wet Monday

Washington, Mar. 15 (AP)—An estimate that representatives of over 52,000,000 people voted Monday in favor of re-submission of the eighteenth amendment was made today by Representative Cullen of New York, leader of Tammany's house delegation.

Cullen's compilation showed that 186 of the 187 members who voted to consider a state-control prohibition amendment represented, on the basis of the 1930 census, an aggregate population of 52,049,949.

He excluded from this compilation the vote of Representative Dieterich, Democrat, who represents the state of Illinois at large.

Representaive O'Connor (D., N. Y.) meanwhile reiterated his intention to file a discharge petition early in April to force a vote on modification of the Volstead act to legalize beer and tax its consumption. This measure, sponsored also byRepresentaive William E. Hull of Illinois, is pending before the ways and means committee.

LOSS IS FELT BY PEOPLE OF DELTA COUNTY

FATAL ILLNESS ENDS 19 YEARS SERVICE FOR OFFICER

One of Delta county's best known officers was taken Tuesday morning with the death of Undersheriff Joseph P. Carney, 49, who served his community for 19 years as a loyal, efficient and honest representative of the law. Mr. Carney died at 7:10 a. m. at St .Francis hospital after waging a losing battle against illness, which began with an attack of influenza, followed by a ruptured appendix, and was further complicated by pneumonia and pleurisy.

As news of Mr. Carney's death reached local residents yesterday, universal tribute was paid to the man who won the respect and admiration of people in all walks of life, and who never had a known enemy in all his years of unselfish public service. This unselfishness which endeared him to the people of Delta county was evident in his last hours as he died with a prayer on his lips for the safe return of the Lindbergh baby.

Settled at Corinne

Mr. Carney was born October 28, 1882 at Mountrath, Ireland, and attended school there from 1887 to 1892. From the latter date until 1898 he was a student at the R. H. M. school in Dublin, a military school, and in 1898, at the age of 12, came to America with his widowed mother, Mrs. Anne Carney.

The mother and son first settled at Corinne, near Gould City, Mich., and after a brief residence there came to Escanaba. The young man secured employment at the Escanaba Woodenware Co. plant in 1900, and then went to work on the C. & N. W. ore docks, where he remained until 1902. He was then employed as a fireman for the C. W. Reiss coal company, was promoted to engineer, and from 1909 to 1912 was foreman engineer.

It was in 1912 that Mr. Carney started his career as a police officer. He joined the Escanaba police force as a patrolman under Chief Andrew Iverson. Later he became a motorcycle traffic officer, and held the distinction of being the first motorcycle patrolman in the upper peninsula. A promotion to desk sergeant of the police department followed, and at the time of his resignation from the police department in 1923 to become a candidate for county sheriff, he was assistant chief of police for the city of Escanaba. From 1923 to 1927 he was sheriff of Delta county, and at the expiration of his second term became undersheriff, which position he held at the time of his death.

Atlanta Votes to Keep Mayor Key in Office

Atlanta, Mar. 15 (AP)—With the largest vote ever polled in a municipal election here, Atlanta citizens today voted 17,178 to 11,744 to keep in office Mayor James L. Key, who called the prohibition law a failure, permitted Sunday charity movies, refused to pay a bonus to low bidders on city construction work and approved salary reductions to balance the city budget.

The total registration, largest in the history of the city, was 34,916. Extra police were placed on the 31 polling places, but no disorder occurred.

Dry Law Failure

The vote, unofficially compiled, was unusually close until near the end of the count when the Key forces went into a good lead and held the majority to the end.

Atlanta's largest previous vote on any question was around 20,000, and the former registration record was 26,401, reached in 1930.

Had the recall movement been successful Mayor Key, under the law, could have become a candidate for re-election, and another municipal vote would have settled the controversy.

While in France last year as a guest of that nation Mayor Key called the prohibition law a failure, asserting that enforcement had fallen down, that the law did not foster temperance and had corrupted officialdom.

This started political bombardments and the first of the recall petitions, which was sponsored by John A. Manget, head of the dry forces in Atlanta.

The attack on Mayor Key continued and he was ousted as teacher of a Bible class in Grace Methodist church here.

Many members of this class are now attending a non-denominational class taught by the mayor in a theatre and it is said to be the largest Bible class in the city.

Key's endorsement of Sunday movies for charity brought renewed attempts to have him recalled and his refusal to approve payment of a bonus to low bidders for city construction work increased the number of his political enemies.

A. Steve Nance, president of the Atlanta Federation of Trades, and other labor leaders enlisted support from several organizations and they joined in the efforts of the dry forces seeking the mayor's ouster.

A list of approximately 6,000 names was presented the city council with the request that a recall election be held. An investigation started by Key forces showed alleged fraud in obtaining about 2,000 names, but the number left on the petition was sufficient to cause the election to be ordered.

MURRAY TRAILS FIRST RETURNS

Roosevelt Takes Lead in Primary Election in North Dakota

BULLETIN

Fargo, N. D., March 15 (AP)—Returns from 34 precincts out of 2235 in North Dakota tonight gave, for Republican presidential choice: Coxey 229, France 152.

Forty-one precincts for Democratic presidentiay choice gave Murray 886, Roosevelt 1076.

The expressions of the voters in the preference primary are only advisory, and delegates to the national party conventions need not be bound by the result.

Fargo, N. D., March 15 (AP)—Gov. Franklin D. Roosevelt of New York got off to a slight lead over Gov. W. H. Murray of Oklahoma on first returns in today's Democratic presidential preference primary.

Returns from 33 of the state's 2,235 precincts in the Democratic race gave Roosevelt 961 and Murray 826.

On the Republican ballot, returns from 24 precincts gave former Senator Joseph I. France of Maryland 284 votes and Jacob S. Coxey of Ohio 129 in the presidential preference contest.

A heavy invasion of the Democratic primary by the Republicans, who saw a better fight in the Democratic primary contest than they could muster in their own party, was apparent. From all parts of the state came word that a record vote for a presidentiai primary had been cast and that there was a big demand for Democratic ballots.

Just when results will become definitely known remained uncertain. Four years ago, it required two full days to gather returns to determinte the outcome of the contests for Democratic and Republican national committeemen. In that election there were no contests for presidential indorsements.

County auditors found counting the party ballots a slow, tedious task. There were votes to be tabulated for 68 candidates in addition to five state issues. In many communities local elections were also held.

In Fargo, out of 8,105 votes cast, 2,150 were Democratic, approximately 25 per cent. Four years ago only about 13 per cent of all votes in Fargo were Democratic.

Anamoose, in McHenry county, indicating the demand for Democratic ballots, cast 110 ballots of that party today, while only ten such ballots were cast four years ago.

Iron River Finds Jobs For 25 Men

The New York total rose to 23,850 against 23,353 reported for Minnesota which had led the states in total jobs provided throughout most of the campaign.

Michigan's total was raised to 5,258 with reports of 20 jobs found in Detroit, 25 in Iron River and one in Lincoln Park.

SEN. JOHNSON SAYS BANKERS UNRESTRAINED

STINGS GOVERNMENT FOR UNGUARDING U. S. INVESTORS

Washington, March 15, (AP)—In stinging language, Hiram Johnson of California, today arraigned international banking as a "racket" and rebuked the government for "smug complacency and supreme indifference" while American investors were losing billions of dollars in foreign securities.

The Californian, who reported the results of the recent investigation of foreign loan flotations in the United States, demanded legislation to protect the public in the future.

The government and the bankers both contributed, he said, to a "shameful and even infamous exploitation" of American investors. He accused the bankers of "soaking the public" for the profits they received without regard to the trust imposed upon them by the people.

Speculation Encouraged

Crowded galleries remembered frequent suggestions that he become a candidate for the presidency as the Californian thundered:

"Above all, had I the power, I would take this government out of the lethargy that has characterized it." Then he continued:

"The sale of foreign securities was not only unrestrained by our government, but the peculiar system adopted by the state department enabled international bankers to foster sales and either by direct reference or a mere statement of the fact, to convey the impression that their securities were of a character satisfactory to our government."

Johnson commended a warning issued by former secretary of state Kellogg on German loans, but said similar action should have been taken with reference to other countries.

"Speculation ran riot," he said, "and speculation was encouraged not only by bankers greedy for profits, but the very government itself."

Johnson criticized the department for its connection with negotiations for a loan of $4,000,000 to Columbia in 1930, which he linked with restoration of the valuable Barco oil concessoin to the Mellon-owned Gulf Oil company and other American interests.

"Whatever excuses may be made," he said, "however tightly the lips of American representatives abroad may be sealed despite the pretense of protecting confidential communications that only international bankers may know, we find the controversy about the Barco concession running side by side with the controversy about withheld moneys of the National City bank: and the concluding episode of the controversy, the passage of the Barco concession and the payment of the amount withheld.

Gas Overcomes 9 In One Family At Kalamazoo, 3 Dead

Kalamazoo, Mich., Mar. 15 (AP)—Three children were dead and five other persons still unconscious tonight from gas which overcame nine members of the Claus K. Laning family in their home this morning.

James, aged one year, and Cornelius, 14, died this afternoon. Garret, 9, died tonight.

James, aged one year, and Cornelius, 14, died this afternoon. Andrew, aged 6 years, regained consciousness, but was unable to give details which would aid investigators in determining what kind of gas filled the home.

When friends of the family, worried because Laning had not opened his meat market, broke into the house this morning, they found all members of the family unconscious. Laning was lying in the dining room. Mrs. Laning and the seven children, their ages ages ranging from one to 21 years, were in the bedrooms.

Investigators said there was a possibility marsh gas had seeped into the house through the basement.

LEVINE DENIES HIS TESTIMONY

Says He Was Forced by Police to Give False Evidence in Case

Detroit, Mar. 15 (AP)—A racketeer whose testimony last year made life term prisoners of three men today declared he was forced by the police to give false evidence that brought the convictions.

Solly Levine, who turned state's evidence and named Harry Keywell, Irving Milberg and Raymond Bernstein as the slayers of three men in Detrot's sensational Collingwood apartment massacre last September, made the declaration today, in an affidavit filed through his attorney.

In the affidavit Levine, who has been, in his own words, "a marked man," since his testimony was given, said Milberg, Keywell and Bernstein were not the slayers, and declared he was forced by police and the prosecutor to name them.

Says He Was Beaten

Hymie Paul, Joseph Lebovitz and Isidore Sutker were slain in the Collingwood massacre. Levine, police said, was in the room with them during the slaying. He was arrested, and after several days named Milberg, Keywell, Bernstein and Harry Fleischer, still a fugitive, as the slayers. They were tried, convicted, and sentenced to life imprisonment in Marquette branch prison, where they now are serving their terms. The slayings, acording to testimony at the trial, resulted from a beer feud.

Levine's affidavit, dated from Kansas City, was filed in support of a motion for a rehearing in the case of the three convicted men. A previous motion was denied six weeks ago.

Levine stated in the affidavit that the police beat and tortured him, finally forcing him to name the three convicted men as the slayers. He said the police at first tried to get him to name Abe Axler, Joe Miller and Izzy Bernstein, three reputed members of Detroit's Purple gang, as the slayers, and when he refused switched to the others. He declared the police told him he would be charged himself with the slayings if he did not name the three. He said the prosecutor, Harry S. Toy, also threatened him with perjury.

In the affidavit Levine detailed his wanderings since the trial, and charged the police had supervised his travels away from Detroit, threatening him several times. He declared that four men whom he did not know killed the men, and said he "would know them if I ever saw them again."

Prosecutor Toy, given a copy of the affidavit and a notice of the motion for a new trial, said he would ask that the motion be dismissed.

Blanket Embargo On Fresh Fruits Lifted By France

Paris, Mar. 15 (AP)—The French government tonight lifted a blanket embargo on fresh friuts from the United States, Canada and several other countries, imposing instead conditions under which fruit will be admitted. The embargo was imposed last week to prevent the entrance of the San Jose scale into France.

The minister of agriculture order also made a special provision for fruit in French ports or in transit when the decree of March 8 was promulgated.

Fruit importers protested when the embargo was clamped on last week, declaring losses to American shippers would amount to many thousands of dollars, because importers or shippers could not reship before the fruit spoiled.

FOUR ROBBERS CAUGHT NEAR CLINTON, IOWA

QUARTET CONFESSES THEFT, POLICE REPORT

Clinton, Ia., Mar. 15 (AP)—An effective police dragnet today blocked escape of four masked bandits with $106,000 they had taken from the City National Bank here.

Shortly after 8:30 a. m., the quartet fled with the money leaving 38 employes and customers bound in the bank. Within three hours most of the loot was found in a brush pile on a farm near Camanche and two hours later the four men had been captured at various points between here and Davenport, Iowa. Officers announced they had confessed the robbery.

The men gave their names as Cliff Edwards of Louisville, Ky., who said he had been staying with an aunt at Clinton; Earl Jeffries, alias Earl Shearleff, Edward Morris, alsia T. D. Morse, and Lester Stanley, alias Leo Stanley.

Customers Bound

The four men had been seen together about Clinton for several days, usually in a green coupe bearing Kentucky license plates. A similar car was used in the robbery.

Edwards was picked up at Bettenborf driving the car. The others were arrested at Princeton, Iowa, and Camanche.

Wearing black hoods, the robbers were waiting at a barred rear door when Clyde Willetts, the bank janitor, opened the building.

As each employe and customer entered the bank, he was bound and taken into a room not visible from the street. When the time lock released the vault doors at 8:30 a. m., the bandits stuffed all available currency into a pillow case and left.

They discarded their hoods outside. A hat lost in the process bore the address of the home of Edwards' aunt, Miss Gertrude Hill.

John and Arvid Flood, brothers operating a farm near Camanche, noticed a bundle thrown from an automobile speeding past their farm. They found it to be the greater part of the stolen money and some clothing.

Investigation of Edwards revealed that he was divorced from a daughter of the janitor, Willett. Miss Hall, his aunt, told police that he had left her home last night. Edwards and the others spent the night at a small hotel here.

Police at Davenport found $400 on one of the four and said another carried two guns.

At Davenport the men were also viewed by officers of the Northwest Savings Bank and the Home Savings Bank, which were robbed within the last three months.

The number of returns, according to collectors in the offices here, have fallen off about 65 per cent, with collections for the first quarter here totaling $1,626,602 late today, as compared to $5,518,019 for the first quarter of the preceding year.

HOOVER CALLS FARM LEADERS

Agricultural Problems Are Discussed at White House

Washington, Mar. 15 (AP)—Turning to agriculture's problems, President Hoover tonight called a group of house farm leaders, with Secretary Hyde, for a conference in the White House proper.

The conferees acceding to the President's request, were silent upon the subject of the meeting as they left the executive mansion. Those present beside Hyde were Representatives Haugen of Iowa, Purnell of Indiana and Clarke of New York, all Republican members of the house agriculture committee.

Speculation upon the White House talk was divided between the recent activity on Capitol Hill in behalf of the equalization fee and export debenture relief plans and the farm resolution adopted yesterday in the senate.

This would make the $200,000,000 farm fund of the reconstruction finance corporation's authorized credit immediately available for crop loans without waiting for the sale of additional debentures.

$50,000,000 Available

President Hoover generally is listed as opposed to both the equalization fee and the debenture. Both the senate and house agriculture committees during the present session, however, have listened to pleas in behalf of these recurring plans by leaders of national farm organizations.

Haugen has sponsored the equalization fee, which Chairman Jones of the house agriculture committee, has introduced a debenture bill.

President Hoover has made no statement as to his attitude on the senate resolution now in house hands to make the $200,000,000 agricultural allotment immediately available.

Now, only $50,000,000, or 10 percent of the capital subscribed by the treasury, is ready for use. The department of agriculture is lending it to farmers to raise crops. The department will get ten percent of the securities sold by the reconstruction corporation, but as the situation now stands must wait until they are sold to get the money.

Lightfoot of Highland Park, near New Brunswick, N. J.? They say their two servants took a 60-mile drive in the family car the night of the kidnaping and disappeared the next day. Lightfoot said today a chisel had disappeared, too, and some wood from a crate he had received."

"We are investigating it," was Colonel Schwarzkopf's reply.

Rosner was described at that time by officials as a emissary of Colonel Lindbergh.

Later Rosner told the Associated Press, as he was approached at his New York apartment, that he had been working on the kidnaping case for 103 hours and that he had definite reason to believe the kidnaped child was still alive. He once referred to the kidnapers as "that family."

The kidnaping plot detailed by Fitzgerald originated in the Hudson county jail, he said, while he was serving out the last few weeks of a sentence for a North Bergen holdup.

He was released first, while Gleason won his freedom on January 12 and was at liberty until he was picked up yesterday on a technical charge of disorderly conduct so he could be questioned concerning Fitzgerald's story.

Another name was brought into the kidnaping investigation when Colonel H. Normal Schwarzkopf announced at Trenton that the state police were seeking to learn the whereabouts, at the time of the abduction, of Stanley Crandell, paroled New York convict.

"Harry C. Fairbanks, alias Harry Chyrstie, arrested June 18, 1929, at Fall River, Mass., and turned over to your department in connection with the kidnaping of Alexander Anderson, six years old; also if Stanley G. Crandell, alleged to be with Fairbanks at the time of kidnaping, is still in jail. Advise if men are still in custody."

From Schenectady came the report the men were the kidnapers of 6-year-old Verner Alexanderson nine years ago, that both were convicted, that Crandell was released on parole a year ago, and that Fairbanks is still in prison at Comstock, N. Y.

New York detectives visited the yacht of Frank H. Berg, Jr., in Jamaica Bay during the day to investigate a report a child was aboard. They found a 5-year-old boy belonging to friends of Mrs. Berg.

Berg was arrested in 1925 in connection with a reported attempt to lure Max Phillips, wealthy collar manufacturer, aboard his yacht.

Colonel Schwarzkopf said he had received a report Berg was not in any way connected with the Lindbergh case, but added his investigators were still in New York in connection with that angle of the inquiry.

Lansing, Mar. 15 (AP)—The special session of the legislature must make some showing of tax relief no matter how small, Governor Brucker told delegates to the annual meeting of the Michigan Wool Dealers' association here today. Pointing to the absence of bank failures in Michigan for the last six weeks, the executive spoke encouragingly of financial conditions in the state.

Officers of the association were re-elected. They are:

Hoan Leads Field In Primary Vote For Renomination

Milwaukee, March 15. (AP)—Daniel W. Hoan, Milwaukee's socialist mayor, and other incumbents of principal offices in the municipal government were virtually assured of renomination tonight on the basis of returns from the primary election.

In 150 of the city's 388 precincts Hoan polled 24,934 against 12,204 for Joseph P. Carey and 6,748 for Philip C. Westfahl, his nearest competitors. Carey, an alderman, and Westfahl, register of deeds, are non partisans.

Louis Kotecki, city controller, John Drew, treasurer, and John Niven, city attorney, also were out in front in early tabulations.

Hoan's majority in effect, represented the voters' indorsement of his administration during 16 years as head of the city government. While his opponents conducted campaigns on charges that taxes and government costs had increased unreasonably, Hoan pointed to the city's favorable financial condition, recently made the subject of nation-wide comment.

Mayor Says Town Could Save Money By Removing Him

Wilmington, Ill., Mar. 15 (AP)—Mayor J. C. Thompson today advised his fellow townsmen that they could save $1,030 in their tax bills by removing him from office.

Thompson has been mayor of this town of 1800 population for fifteen years. His salary is $800 annually.

He suggested that 25 citizens sign a petition to put the proposition of change to a commission form of government to vote at the regular election April 19.

Five commissioners at total salary of $170 a year could do all the governing the community needs, the mayor said, against total salaries now of $1200 for mayor and aldermen.

KIDNAPING CASE IS UP TO JUDGE

Alleged Abductor of De Jute Youth Pleaded Not Guilty

Warren, Ohio, Mar. 15 (AP)—The fate of the first of two men tried for the kidnaping of James De Jute, Jr., 11-year-old son of a wealthy Niles contractor, probably will be decided by Common Pleas Judge Lynn B. Griffith tomorrow.

The trial of Dowell Hargraves, 31, Youngstown, alleged to be one of the two men who abducted the boy near his home March 2, ended in speedy fashion today with only a total of four hours being spent in the courtroom.

Judge Griffith, who heard the case without a jury at the request of the defense, indicated he would announce a decision tomorrow.

Prosecutor G. H. Birrell, in his final arguments, demanded the maximum life penalty as an example to kidnapers.

John De Marko, also of Youngstown, is expected to go on trial next week. Officers said he and Hargraves were with the De Jute boy when they recovered him from an abandoned gambling house and liquor cache near Youngstown three days after the kidnaping. The boy was a star witness for the state yesterday, pointing out Hargraves as one of his captors.

De Marko, who has pleaded not guilty, contended he only went to the house where James was held to buy liquor.

Messenger Reports $25,565 Robbery

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—Frank Rosenbloom, messenger for a large clothing house, reported to police that he was robbed of $24,565 by three thugs today at one of the busiest intersections of Fifth avenue.

An alarm was broadcast for a large sedan containing three men, whom Rosenbloom accuses of working with such speed and smoothness that none of the thousands on the sidewalks noticed his predicament.

Rosenbloom said he was near the intersection of Fifth avenue and Fourteenth street, when a stranger pressed something into his ribs. The stranger, whose hand was in his overcoat pocket—the lump looked like a pistol, said Rosenbloom—ordered the messenger into a car at the curb.

Missing Physician Believed Kidnaped

Peoria, Ill., March 15. (AP)—Police tonight said they were confident that Dr. James W. Parker, 65, a physician, had been kidnaped and that his family soon would receive ransom demands.

They said they had no definite information on which to base their kidnaping belief after an all-day investigation. His automobile was found abandoned this morning near the municipal golf links.

Dr. Parker's wife told police that shortly after her husband left in his automobile Monday night, she received a telephone call from a man who told her she would find Dr. Parker's car near the links and that the doctor would not be home that night.

Labor Unions Call For General Strike

Warsaw, Poland, Mar. 15 (AP)—Labor unions, influenced by socialists, have proclaimed a general strike throughout Poland tomorrow as a protest against several labor bills recently introduced in the parliament by the government.

Taking extreme precautions, authorities decreed that alcohol would not be sold tomorrow and that severe punishment would await strike agitators. Railways, posts and public utilities were expected to function normally.

Flood Control Jobs Opposed By Brown

Washington, Mar. 15 (AP)—Maj. Gen. Lytle Brown, chief of engineers, today reported to congress that the cost of flood control works in the Tittabawassee and Chippewa rivers in Michigan was "far in excess of the value of any benefits derived therefrom" and recommended against improvements in the streams.

The improvements had been advocated with a view to improving the navigability of the streams.

Wife Of Mahatma Gandhi Arrested: Free Two Weeks

Surat, India, Mar. 15 (AP)—Mrs. Kasturbai Gandhi, wife of the imprisoned National Congress leader, was arrested again today after only two weeks of liberty and was sentenced to six months rigorous imprisonment.

The Mahatma Gandhi is treated as a privileged prisoner, but his wife has been ordered jailed here in what is known as "Class C" which means that she will be subject to more stringent regulations than are prisoners of any other class.

The particulars of the charge on which she was convicted have not been learned, but she is known to have been engaged in congress activities in villages of the Bardoli district.

Mrs. Gandhi was first arrested January 11, after her husband already had gone to jail. On that occasion she served six weeks.

Right To Take A Drink Of Whiskey In Court Granted

Los Angeles, March 15. (AP)—By special permission of the court a plaintiff in a marriage annulment action was allowed to brace himself with a drink of whiskey on the witness stand before he began his story today.

"I have an unusual request to make," said Attorney S. S. Hahn as his client, Dr. Chester M. Sutton, retired physician, took the stand. "Dr. Sutton has a low blood count and is advised by his doctor to use whiskey. Will your honor grant my client permission to take a swig before he starts his testimony?"

He then declared Mrs. Rosa Sutton, 30 years his junior, had deceived him concerning her past.

Judge Call took the case under advisement.

Declares Non-Suit In Defamation Of Character Action

Los Angeles, March 15. (AP)—Superior Judge Douglas Edmunds today declared a non suit in the $50,000 defamation of character action Captain Leopold McLaglen, Australian actor, brought against his brother, Victor McLaglen, film actor.

The suit was contested hotly by the two brothers until Victor McLaglen's attorney motioned for a non-suit. Five other McLaglen brothers lined up with Victor.

Leopold claimed Victor discredited him in Hollywood and thwarted his efforts to obtain work by saying he was "unreliable and needed to be watched."

state kept its secrets."

The state department refused to make public correspondence on the Barco concession which was restored 10 days before the bank extended a loan of $4,000,000 to Colombia which had been contracted for the year previous.

"The activity of our state department in view of its long settled policy, may well be considered," Johnson said.

"Practically $100,000,000 in bonds issued by the government of Colombia and its political subdivisions are in the hands of our people and facing possible default.

"Neither by word nor deed is our government, because of what it asserts is its definite policy, able to do aught for those who hold the doubtful securities of Colombia.

"It can, however, when the occasion, in its opinion demands it, act for a Barco concession owned by the Mellon or the Morgan interests in Colombia, and be the go-between in a short term loan of the National City bank to that country."

New York Yankees Beat Boston Braves

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 15 (AP)—Two hits in the second inning, preceded by Bruce Cunningham's error, paved the way for the New York Yankees 3 to 2 decision over the Boston Braves today. The Yankees were held to five hits by Cunningham and Betts but the three runs made in the second inning proved to be enough to win. Ruffing held the Braves scoreless and allowed only one hit for the first four innings. Paul Andrews was touched for six safeties and both of Boston's runs.

Home Minister Of Japan Resigns Job

Tokyo, Mar. 15 (AP)—Home Minister Tokugoro Nakahashi, who was severely criticized for remaining in office after the bombing attempt on the life of Emperor Hirohito January 8, resigned from the cabinet today.

Political observers interpreted the action as an attempt to strengthen the cabinet in preparation for the opposition's attacks when parliament convenes in special session March 18.

The Japanese home minister is head of the police. According to custom M. Nakahashi should have assumed responsibility for the attempt on the emperor and, accordingly, should have resigned immediately.

CAN NOT BAR SOVIET GOODS

Mills Says Treasury Is Powerless to Act Under Present Laws

Washington, March 15. (AP)—A dispute arose today over the right of the treasury to bar Russian products from the United States.

Secretary Mills told a delegation seeking an embargo that the treasury is powerless to act under present law and that additional legislation would be necessary if his department was to have the authority in question.

The delegation, composed of representatives of business, labor and civic organizations headed by Senator Oddie (R. Nev.), took the position the treasury had sufficient evidence of the use of convict and forced labor in Russia to exclude that country's products.

Mills told the delegation a decision would have to be made upon each shipment from Russia unless congress passed additional legislation.

Ports Icebound

Treasury officials have held in cases of shipments of lumber, plup wood and manganese, temporarily denied entrance, that evidence of their origin was insufficient to justify refusing them entrance.

Under existing regulations the burden of proving that convict or forced labor was not used in production of goods is placed upon the importer and shipper.

When the lumber, pulpwood and manganese shipments were held up Russian representatives presented affidavits saying convict labor was not used.

The forced labor section of the tariff act became effective last January 1. It prohibits importation of such products unless there is an insufficient quantity produced in this country to supply the domestic demand.

Since January 1 no shipments upon which a test case could be based have been received from Russia. Russian ports are ice bound and inactive in the winter.

No Old Licenses Used In Escanaba

Checking up on license plates for 1932 recently, state police officers reported that they found no old licenses in use in Delta county. In some other communities, a scattering use of 1931 plates was noted, but there were none on the roads in Delta county.

Residents of outlying regions who are forced to drive to Escanaba before securing their new licenses are not molested by officers if they are on their way to the local license agency, and state officers have also been instructed to use their judgement in such cases.

Officers Hope To Talk To Underwood In Hospital Today

Newberry, March 15 (Special)—The condition of E. C. Underwood, Luce county supervisor, remains unchanged, according to a report from the hospital where he has been cared for since his car crashed into a tree on the McMillan road yesterday afternoon. Bruised and shaken and in a nervous condition, his condition is not reported serious unless internal injuries are discovered.

Officers are planning to attempt to interview him sometime today, should he be in a condition to talk. Meanwhile the plans for taking the mutilated primary ballots to Lansing for finger-print study are being delayed but it is thought that Township Clerk Earl Pell and a state police official may start with them today.

Prosecutor Frank O'Connor and state police officials asked Underwood to allow his finger prints to be taken to be used in the investigation concerning the ballot tampering which took place on Friday night before the primaries. At the time the discovery was made that the safe had been opened and the ballots tampered with all those who in any way had handled the ballots allowed their prints to be made, Underwood alone refusing. He promised that he would let it be done later and again refused on Monday.

ALMOST NEW BOARD

Luce county board of supervisors will see only two old members carry over after the April election. Philip S. Hamilton, village president will be the oldest member in point of service and Heidbreicht of Columbus township, who won by 13 votes over his opponent at Monday's primary, will be the only other former member. These two men with Ira Fox of Pentland township, Charles Bryans of Lakefield and Leonard Peterson, replacing Underwood as representative from McMillan township, will comprise the board who will tackle Luce county's jumbled affairs ten days after the April election. Peterson's vote was conclusive, being 835 against 401.

The present board is holding its last meeting today. With the chairman in the hospital only routine business is expected to be transacted. Underwood has been a member of the board for about 18 years, is a former lumberman, once manager of the Dollarville mill and late years proprietor of the Natalie Fur Farm. The latter has passed from his hands.

Stopped by Writ

Crystal Falls—Charged with bad faith the county road commission at a meeting today was served with a court order restraining the clerk, John E. Carlson, from issuing a warrant for $5,500 to pay for a second hand gas shovel purchased from Smith and Benzer, contractors.

The restraining order was obtained this morning from F. L. Symonds, circuit court commissioner, upon a petition submitted by Tom Conlin, of Crystal Falls, representative of the Iron County Taxpayers' association.

The temporary injunction was served shortly after Matt E. Kosky and J. T. Gibson, road commissioners, signed a requisition closing the deal. Frank J. Smith, chairman of the commission and the third member, declined to sign, contending at the outset of negotiations for the purchase that the shovel was not needed at this time.

Brandt Defeated

Menominee—Walter A. Brandt, for 13 years county supervisor of Faithorn township, Saturday was defeated by two votes for renomination in a township caucus held in Faithorn.

William Smokovich, who went to Faithorn township only two years ago from Vulcan, nosed out Mr. Brandt for the nomination, 76 to 74 votes. Faithorn township has few votes compared with some of the other townships of the county, whose primary elections and caucuses attracted more than 400 voters.

Mr. Brandt had been prominently mentioned as a successor to Wolfgang Reindl as chairman of the county board. Mr. Reindl retired from the board at its last session after 25 years of service, 17 years as chairman.

CURTIS NEWS

LETTER FROM CHINA

Curtis—P. T. Ellis, who makes his home in Curtis, with his daughter, Mrs. Viola M. Painter, received a letter from his grandson, Rex Ellis, of Yorkville, Michigan, who is a member of the wireless and radio division of the U. S. A. Marines stationed at Peiping, China. He dates his letter February, 1932, and says:

Dear Grandpap:

There is so much to do and see in this ancient capitol. I know you'd be delighted in prowling around the little shops where stuff looks like junk, but in reality is worth money to show places in America. All kinds of old money, stamps, rare cloth weaves, carved objects, etc., are on display in Tourist shops. The tourist is the "sucker." To every resident here, the Chinese have four prices, but the tourist has only one price offered to him.

Last summer, the heat was terrific and the dust storms galore. This winter weather isn't like good American stuff. There's no snow, whatever, but icy blasts of cold dusty winds from the Gobi Desert. At present, there aren't so many camel caravans passing through. They make trips which sometimes takes from three to five months in the interior. There aren't so many beggars here as in Shanghai. They recently had a convention there. I saw a Chinaman begging for money, by letting a snake crowl up his nostril and come out at his mouth; then he'd go and vomit and repeat the act. One man had a crippled boy whom he beat up to draw a crowd in order to beg from them. In Peiping, on the main street of Hat-a-men, they have a fairly decent dusty highway and on one side of it is another track where all the donkey or bull carts travel. No sidewalks here. Everybody walks in the street, mingling with evil smelling coolies and hideously diseased persons. The best way to get around is in a rickshaw. These coolies can run for miles without stopping. He will run at a steady trot for about 4 miles for three pesetas (about 12 cents gold). Men here, drawing $40 in gold a month can rent a nice place, keep a woman, a rickshaw boy and still buy good clothes and chow. People seem to have no sense of morals here. Maybe because nobody ever taught them such a thing. The poor Chinese will grovel in the dirt and let you kick 'em for a small dime. The Japanese situation here seems to be well in hand. As for Manchuria and Shanghai—what next? We wonder . . . We are well prepared for anything that might happen.

Affectionately,
Your grandson,
Rex Ellis.

EDITORIAL

JOSEPH P. CARNEY

"JOE CARNEY is one of the most fearless officers in the upper peninsula," Warden James Corgan of the Marquette branch prison remarked a few years ago, in commenting on the work of the late Undersheriff Joseph P. Carney during a hunt for escaped convicts.

Fearlessness, however, was only one of the many good traits Joe Carney possessed. He was an all-around good officer. Besides an abundance of courage, he had keen judgment and a sense of fairness.

His 20 years of experience in police work had grounded him with a practical knowledge of effective methods of law enforcement. He had acquired much knowledge of our country's laws and their application, a fact which enabled him to show common sense in his work.

The danger of losing personal popularity never caused Joseph P. Carney to deviate from the path of duty. If there was a duty to perform, he went right ahead and did it, no matter the consequences. His intelligence and consideration for the rights of the individual, however, won for him the esteem of even the persons he found it his duty to arrest.

Throughout the score years that Joseph P. Carney served the public as city patrolman, county sheriff and undersheriff, his record was clean. His passing removes one of the highest type of peace officers to ever serve this community. He will be missed.

GOOD ROADS—GOOD EDUCATION

WRITING in "Roads and Streets," M. S. Winder points out the intimate relationship that exists between rural roads and rural educational facilities.

During 1930, 50,000 school buses transported 2,000,000 children to and from 17,000 schools. From year to year the number of one-room country schools has been gradually decreasing, and the number of consolidated schools increasing. In 1917-18, there were 195,397 one-room schools and 5,349 consolidated schools. By 1927-28, the number of one-room schools had dropped to 153,306, while consolidated schools jumped to 17,004.

During the same period there has been a large increase in the number of pupils transported to schools at public expense. In 15 states, from 1920 to 1928, this increase was 191 per cent.

It is obvious that the children of families living on unimproved roads which become impassable or semi-impassable during several months of the year, are at a tremendous disadvantage when it comes to their education. The decline in the small schools and the increase in the large consolidated schools serving a much wider area, makes it necessary for each child, on the average, to travel farther. In one town which Mr. Winder cites, only 12 of 300 pupils enrolled in a school are within walking distance, while the others dwell in a district 240 square miles in area and are brought to classes in five large buses whose daily mileage is 125 miles each.

We usually think of improved rural roads from the standpoint of their effect on the social and economic life of farmers and small town residents. But the influence they have in making a high standard of education available to more children, is of extreme importance, and is alone all the justification that the good roads movement could desire.

AROUND THE U. P.

(Ironwood Globe)

ABOUT the time state troopers are in the good graces of the public, they resort to tactics which heap criticisms upon them. The most event occurred at Iron River where an insurance agent was arrested for operating a motor vehicle with a defective muffler. So much adoo was made over the case that he was found not guilty in an Iron River court. The troopers might better have warned the man. It would have been a display of good judgment. One of the troopers was a "rookie" and that perhaps accounted for the indiscretion. "Rookies" should be drilled on judgment as well as in other tactics.

Escanaba is carrying on a war against depression by soliciting odd jobs for unemployed. One volunteer solicitor last week got pledges for $1,675 worth of construction work and another bettered the thousand-dollar mark. Some solicitors said they would report as much as $5,000 worth of work pledged before they conclude their activities. The drive is on in Escanaba to promote repair work, painting, fixing roofs or anything that will give an unemployed man a few hours of work. It is a worthy movement, to say the least.

The plant and building of the Florence, Wis., Mining News was destroyed by fire last week with a loss to the owner of between $6,000 and $7,000. The owner was Chase O. Youngs, who was apparently named Chase Osborn after the original owner of the newspaper. It was in Florence that the former Michigan governor lambasted the wicked in the early 80s.

A ten-cent taxi business was flourishing in Menominee until an investigator of the secretary of state's office advised the operators that their cabs must carry commercial licenses. To say the business was flourishing probably is erroneous, for it is difficult to see how a ten-cent taxi fare can return a profit in a town as small as Menominee.

Some of the Upper Peninsula legislators, it is understood, are getting a bit uneasy over the fish license situation in the state. They should have put up a concerted fight against the increase in trout and non-resident licenses during the last session of the legislature. Instead of a trout license of $1.75 and a non-resident fee of $4, there should have been adopted a rod license. And a rod license wouldn't have to affect those fellows who pull up perch from the docks on Lake Michigan.

PHILIPPINE INDEPENDENCE

THE present Congress seems to be preparing to put through some kind of bill definitely promising independence for the Filipinos and setting a more or less definite date for the change to go into effect.

This, of course, nothing less than plain justice, since the government years ago went on record unequivocably with a pledge that the islanders would eventually get their freedom. The nation's honor will look just a little bit clearer when an independence bill is finally passed.

The Senate is soon to vote on a bill which would make the Filipinos free in from 17 to 19 years; a bill which will come up for a vote in the House would cut the time to about eight years. Offhand, it would seem that the House bill is the better. Why postpone the process so long? If we are going to give our island wards their freedom, might it not be just as well for us to do it as fast as we comfortably can?

DAYLIGHT SAVING PASSED

On March 16, 1918, American troops on the Toul sector of the western front repulsed a heavy German raid.

More than 1000 German shock troops were used in the raid, and American reports intimated that severe losses had been inflicted by machine gun fire.

The Daylight Saving Bill, providing that all clocks should be turned back one hour beginning March 31, was passed by Congress and went to President Wilson for his signature.

It was estimated that passage of the bill would save $40,000,000 in electric light and power.

Concentration of more than 100 German divisions in northern France was reported. Allied officials made no secret of the fact that the decisive battle of the war might begin within 10 days.

THE DIME-A-DANCE GIRL

(By NEA Service) BY JOAN CLAYTON

CHAPTER XXXVI

THE words fell on Ellen's heart like so many separate blows. Too late now—forever too late for it to be of any consequence to her—Larry Harrowgate was free. Oh, it was impossibly cruel that he should have been free at the very hour she was saying the words that bound her for life.

The newspaper dropped from Ellen's hands and into the fire.

The night mare went on and on. Presently Steven returned to the room and she heard herself talking to him. She was scarcely conscious of what she was saying. She understood that Larry must have gone to the apartment two nights before to tell her he was free. Her mother must have sent him away.

Ellen raised one hand with a trembling gesture and in the firelight saw the frosty sparkle of her wedding ring. It was true then. She was married. This was no evil dream from which she would awake.

"Are you tired, my darling?" Steven asked.

"No, not tired," she said. "Not tired at all."

She followed him to the enclosed veranda where supper had been laid for two. She acknowledged the introduction to Fergus, the only servant on the place, and thought vaguely that she disliked him. The butler moved about, saying "madame" this, and "madame" that, until she could have screamed with the reiteration of the fact that she was Steven's wife. Wild, impossible fancies assailed her. She thought of throwing herself on Steven's mercy—begging him to let her go. No. She could not do that.

In time she would forget, she must forget. She was Steven's wife now. Only this morning she had promised to cleave unto him through sickness and health through poverty and riches. There was no escape from those solemn vows.

She heard whispering tree branches against the window panes, the lapping of invisible water, the sleepy, occasional chirp of a nesting bird. Outside were fireflies drifting to and fro. Outside was the velvet blackness of a perfect night. Inside the table gleamed with candlelight shining on fine old silver and china and touching the purple of hothouse grapes. Across the table Steven smiled at her, so proud and confident, so serene and sure of her love.

She could not break his heart.

She must try to remember, she thought sardonically, that if her own heart broke it broke amid pleasant surroundings. This was the life of which she had dreamed. She had it now. What blind fools girls were and what a fool she herself had been. There was no one else to blame. Not even her mother. Ellen knew she herself had decided that love could be made to yield to affection and gratitude, to ease and luxury.

She must be a good sport, play out her chosen cards. She was too generous-hearted to make a niggardly surrender. Steven deserved the very best that she could give. Under his affectionate regard Ellen forced herself to eat and to respond, as best she could, to his mood of deep and quiet happiness. It almost brought the tears she had held back when she saw how very little of herself it took to make him happy.

* * *

WHEN he bent across the table to kiss her Ellen's lips were willing, fresh and young. She knew something was lacking from that kiss that never would be there, but Steven did not know. His arms tightened about her. His voice filled with passion as he whispered that she was his own.

Somewhere she heard the ringing of a telephone and felt an inward gasp of relief as he released her. She saw her husband frown, saw the queer, unfamiliar look fade from his eyes.

"It's Symes again, I imagine," he told her irritably. "He's called a dozen times today. Fergus told me."

Ellen felt a dull surprise.

"You haven't talked to him?"

"I'm not going to. He's not to spoil my first evening with my bride. Oh, Ellen, Ellen—"

Again the girl was swept with fear. Steven was her husband. He had a right to use that possessive, caressing tone. She belonged to him.

Fergus appeared on the veranda.

"It was Mr. Symes calling, sir," he said to Steven. "I told him you were not to be here tonight, as you informed me, but he was considerably upset. He said it was imperative for him to see you, sir."

"It's always imperative for him to see me," Steven grumbled. "This time he'll have to wait until morning. We'll stop at his office before we sail."

"Very well, sir."

Fergus was gone with one curious, sidewise glance at Ellen—a fleeting glance that seemed to the girl to convey contempt and condemnation, as if Fergus thought she had no right to be sitting at Steven Barclay's table.

"I don't like that man," she said sharply.

"Then he's lost his job," Steven told her.

"Oh, I don't want that!" she protested, dismayed. "It's only that he makes me nervous."

* * *

SHE arose from the table and went to one of the windows, pulled aside the silken curtain and stared out at the night. Soon Steven was at her side.

"Would you like to see your new home now?" he asked. "You haven't even seen half of it."

"I would."

He led her through the vast house, snapping on lights and snapping off lights, showing her one perfect room after another. There were flowers everywhere cut from the gardens and hothouses of the estate. Everywhere there was evidence of luxury and taste.

Last of all Steven showed her the suite that was to be her own, a pale pink bedroom, a golden living room, a tiny dressing room that was all mirrors and a bath with a sunken tub. Her traveling case had been unpacked and put away as though she were to spend weeks here instead of one night. On the dressing table lay her familiar brushes. Lying across the bed were the pale peach pajamas and a negligee, overlapping the silver mules on the floor.

"I'm sorry you'll have to do without a maid," Steven told her.

"Do you realize, Steven, that I've never had a maid in my life?"

He had seated himself in her golden living room. She knew he meant that she should sit beside him, but she was too restless to do anything except stand. She moved about nervously in a state of excitement which she tried to conceal.

Steven knew that she was not at ease and asked if he should leave her for awhile. She understood that he thought she was near tears from homesickness and the strangeness of it all.

"No, don't go away," she told him. "Let's go some where and dance and dance and dance!"

She saw that he was disappointed but she could not help it. It was only 11 o'clock. She was remembering that at Dreamland she had often danced until nearly dawn.

Steven suggested a popular supper club.

A CUSTOMER'S COMPLAINT

He said, "You don't want something more?"
Of course, I answered no.
And turned around and left the store.
Yes, took the hint to go.
I may have wanted three or four—
He said I didn't, though.

If he had said, "Now, here's a thing
You very likely need,"
I might have answered him, "By jing,
I guess I do, indeed,"
I might have kept on purchasing
Because I quite agreed.

If he had said, "Here, sir (or sis),
Is something extra fine,"
The chance I wouldn't want to miss
To make the item mine,
I might have looked at that and this,
Inspected all his line.

Oh, Mr. Clerk, with things to sell,
Whatever I have got,
There may be other things as well
I'd like, and like a lot,
And, if I do, don't break the spell,
Don't tell me I do not.

"Army" Feeding 100; Vegetables Needed

An appeal is made by Capt. Anderson of the Salvation Army for vegetables such as carrots, onions, and cabbage. Anyone having these articles to donate are asked to call Captain Anderson, Tel. 165, and the goods will be called for either in the city or in the farming district.

The Salvation Army continues to feed on an average of 100 men daily. The number of unemployed who have been fed through this department of welfare continues to increase daily and as the work must be carried on, and the provisions are getting low, it is evident that more vegetables must be received very soon.

Three Pound Trout Swallowed on Hook

To be itself swallowed after it had swallowed a baited hook was the experience of a three pound trout taken by Max Moore, Port Huron commercial fisherman.

Moore was running 60,000 feet of set lines with hooks 20 feet apart on the day the fish was taken. A three pound lake trout was hooked, and then in turn had been partially swallowed by a 26 pound trout. Moore hauled in both fish on one line.

According to the Michigan Fisherman, organ of the Commercial Fishermen's Association of Michigan, it is seldom that a fish of three pounds becomes the prey of larger members of the same family, but to a 26 pound trout a three pounder was merely desert.

Cannibalism is common in the Great Lakes. Big pike eat little pike and jumbo whitefish are not averse to swallowing the eggs and fry of their sisters. Overgrown perch will grab a perch fingerling as part of its meal as readily as it would seize a minnow.

Mrs. Arthur Peterson was named delegate to the state convention of the Parent-Teacher Congress which will be held April 20 to 22 in Kalamazoo. Mrs. Wilson was named alternate.

It was announced that Mrs. E. P. Theatres

When Metro-Goldwyn - Mayer invaded Broadway and bought its most popular hit of last season, "Private Lives," it certainly must have had a co-starring arrangement for Norma Shearer and Robert Montgomery in mind. For, in the mind of this reviewer, no two other players in pictures today could have done justice to the sparkling Noel Coward play as have this grand team.

They have brought the hilarious farce to the screen almost intact, plus the addition of a scenic scope the theatre could not hope to achieve. There is no question of the entertainment value of this smart piece as written but the impetus given the story by the clever young farceurs entrusted with the principal roles overshadows even the amazing brilliance of the crackling lines.

Director Sidney Franklin's adept handling of the delicate moments smacks of the cunning of Lubitsch. His pictorial quality is not at all lacking, even in sequences that remain long in one locale and with the two principal players almost constantly before the camera lens. Although the plot gathers top-speed tempo at the very start, it picks up an astonishing momentum that makes us wonder how Miss Shearer and Montgomery ever kept up the wild pace and managed to top each situation's swiftness with a fresh outburst of cyclonic energy.

A Book A Day

By Bruce Catton

How would you tell the story of the year 1919? How would you go about it to picture the madness, the folly, the sense of being uprooted, of being adrift on a shoreless sea, that filled the atmosphere in those days?

John Dos Passos has done it, in his new novel, "1919," by telling the stories of half a dozen American lives. He mixes them up, chapter by chapter and episode by episode; he stirs in fragments of newspaper headlines and stories, and snatches from his own memories; and he begins all of his stories years before the war, so that he does not actually reach the post-war era until his novel is nearly finished.

It is a motley and interesting group that he presents; the wandering sailor from Chesapeake Bay, the self-conscious young ass from Harvard, the luckless rancher's daughter from Texas, the stuffed-shirt of a public relations counsellor from New York, the pathetically obtuse young daughter on the loose in Paris—these, and others, move through the book, each in a different way presenting a facet of the tragic, catastrophic year after the Armistice.

* * *

The picture isn't especially pretty, any more than was the rush of the Gadarene swine over the precipice in Galilee—an affair which, Mr. Dos Passos seems to think, the actions of human society in 1919 strangely resembled. But it hits you like a sock on the jaw. The book is formless, disconnected, hard to read, and I don't think it comes up to Mr. Dos Passos' "The 42nd Parallel." But if you start it I don't think you'll put it down unfinished.

For you may enlarge on this author's abundant defects all you wish; his books have power, his characters are living people, and he has something to say. And you can't exactly say that of all our popular modern novelists.

Cornell Reader Tells How Soap Is Made at Home

A method of making soap at home, particularly on farms where there is usually a large quantity of fat scraps which are a loss if not utilized for this purpose, has been received from Mrs. Eugene Charles of Cornell:

"Save fat scraps and trimmings of bacon, ham and home cured meats. Use twenty pounds of clean melted fat free from salt, four quarts of soft water in which are dissolved four 13-ounce cans of lye and four heaping tablespoons of powdered borax. Let the lye and borax solution stand until cold. It is best to dissolve the lye the day before you make the soap as it takes the solution some time to cool.

"When the grease is just warm enough to be a liquid, add the lye solution slowly and stir moderately until it reaches the consistency of honey. Pour in a cloth lined box to harden. When partly hardened cut in bars but do not remove from box. Cover with a heavy blanket and let stand 24 hours. Then it may be removed. If possible let soap stand in a warm dry place for a month before using. The longer the soap stands the better it is."

EASTER SUIT

Suits get the predominating vote for Easter parade wear this year. It is a year when you can suit your type perfectly and step out in all the chic in the world.

If you have a lovely figure, you will be interested in a Schiaparelli model (left) of a soft dressmaker suit that fits with no marked beltline but the built-up skirt and molded jacket do full justice to your grace. Jan Chiapuso in Concert Program Monday Evening

A number of Escanabans are interested in announcement of a concert to be given by Jan Chiapuso, internationally known pianist, at the Lloyd theatre, Menominee, the evening of Monday, March 21.

He will appear in one concert only, at 8:15 o'clock. The concert will be given along with the regular show.

Born in Java, of Dutch and Italian parentage, Jan Chiapuso comes to the United States with European successes of significant import.

He first studied in Cologne, at the famous conservatory; later he went to Paris where his talent was discovered by Raoul Pugno, who at once invited him to become one of his pupils and mentions him as "a true artist, really more than interesting." Chiapuso then completed his studies with Frederic Lamond, the great interpretor of Beethoven's divine compositions.

He scored a number of great successes in principal European cities and was awarded the much coveted "Musica Prize" in a contest in which sixty of the world's greatest pianists took part. He then came to America where he has already given several extraordinary successful recitals in New York and Chicago.

Mr. Chiapuso's repertoire is so extensive that he does not shrink from giving a series of ten historical programs in ten successive weeks. In his various concerts last season he played about 200 different works. He is particularly known for his miraculous left hand which enables him to disclose nuances impossible even to some of our best known pianists.

Reservations of seats for the concert are now being made.

State Pioneers Are Honored at D. A. R. Meeting

Michigan Pioneer Day was observed by Lewis Cass Chapter, Daughters of the American Revolution, at the regular March meeting of the group held Monday afternoon at the home of Mrs. A. J. Carlton with Mrs. Carlton and Miss Myra Mason, hostesses.

The Escanaba high school quartet, Vivian and Lillian Gleisner, Dick Carlton and Edward Lucas, sang two numbers, "Michigan, My Michigan," and "America, the Beautiful," Miss June Christiensen playing their accompaniments.

Roll call responses were anecdotes of pioneers in the families of the Chapter members, and of these, Mrs. C. E. Kelso's story of pioneering in Manistique was particularly interesting. Mrs. Kelso was, herself, a pioneer, and her description of various beauty spots of that section of the upper peninsula, and her story of the efforts made to preserve the old Mission, the last stone of which was finally carried off, were very entertaining.

A report was given by Mrs. Carlton on Levi D. Trenary, founder of Trenary, based on information secured by Mrs. Carlton from Mr. Trenary's daughter, Mrs. H. H. Ptolemy of Dearborn, Mich. Mr. Trenary founded the village in 1886, Mrs. Carlton's report stated, coming north from Ossian, Ind., and blazing the trail over which he took his family, fifteen years before the first railroad line into that section. Mr. Trenary was described as a prominent resident, lumberman, fireman, blacksmith, town fiddler, postmaster and dentist.

Mrs. W. J. Clark read the chapter on "Women of Affairs," from "Colonial Dames and Good Wives."

The Chapter reported receipt of a letter of thanks and of high commendation for the box sent to Ellis Island.

Plans were also made in continuation of the Bicentennial observance, for a monthly display of antiques and heirlooms at the Carnegie public library. The dipslay which will be changed each month will be in the relic case in the library which will be moved to a more prominent position for this special exhibit. The display will be in charge of Mrs. G. C. Craver, Mrs. George Geniesse, Mrs. A. J. Perrin and Mrs. G. R. Stegath.

Favorite Recipe

A recipe which has been requested by just about everyone who has tasted the dish, is Mrs. Carl E. Berger's recipe for ham loaf, one of the most delicious meats you have ever tasted.

Ham Loaf

One pound pork steak.
One pound ham. Grind together.
Two eggs, beaten.
One-half cup milk.
Three level tablespoons uncooked rice.

Mix well and bake for one hour in a medium oven. The rice will make the loaf flaky and will give it just a little different flavor.

POSTOFFICE IS RAZED BY FIRE

Germfask Building Burns To Ground; Most of Mails Saved

Fire completely destroyed the Germfask postoffice yesterday afternoon with estimated loss of $1000.00 on the building which also served as the residence of Mrs. Vera Duncan, postmistress. Most of the mails were saved but a few parcels were believed to have been destroyed in the blaze which rapidly spread throughout the building. Most of the post office equipment and supplies were also saved.

The flames also destroyed a small garage in the rear of the building. Sparks from the building several times ignited the garage of John Decker, but were extinguished by the bucket brigade who obtained water from the town wells. The origin of the fire is not known. Mrs. Duncan first noticed the fire when smoke began pouring into the post office from the living room. It was the second disastious fire at Germfask within a month, the Caffey garage having been destroyed in the first blaze.

The Manistique fire department answered the call, but was intercepted at Blaney where it was said that the fire had been brought under control. The postoffice building is owned by Norman Stauffer of Flint and at various times served as saloon and meat market.

Interclass Games Prove Interesting To Cooks' Pupils

A great deal of interest is being displayed by the student body of the Inwood Consolidated school in the inter-class basketball tournament which began last week and will end the latter part of this month. Six games will be played by each of the teams.

Last week the seniors defeated the freshmen 16-5 with Lakosky and Middaugh starring for the winners and Griffin for the losers. The sophomores doubled the score on the freshman, winning handily by a score of 22-11.

Thrillis galore were provided in the preliminary game between the Wolverines and Tigers, seventh and eighth grade teams. The game was featured by fine defensive work, only two baskets being made in the entire contest. A free throw by Siegerstrom of the Wolverines decided the game. Siegerstrom also sank the lone basket for the Wolverines while A. Williams scored the field goal for the Tigers.

Utility Earnings More Than $10,000

A net return of $10,772.76 has accrued to the city during the first eleven months of the present fiscal year from the operations of the electric and water utilities according to the report for Feb. 29. Of this sum, $9,120.32 represents the profits of the electric plant and $1,652.44 is the net return from the water plant.

The total revenue of the electric utility for the eleven month period amounts to $51,004.26, the report shows, and electric current purchased cost the city $21,800.40. Beyond the cost of the current, operating expenses for the period were $15,541.31. In addition to these charges, a sum of $411.48 for taxes and $4,127.75 for interest on investment are deducted from the revenues before the net profit is reached.

Revenue of the water department was $18,311.15 up to Feb. 29, with a net operating cost of $14,018.82 and deductions of $636.24 for taxes and $2,003.65 for interest.

Sewer Connection Charges Halved by Correction of Error

The City Commission Monday night adopted a resolution pertaining to fees for connections to the Montana avenue and Eleventh street sewers to correct an error which occurred in a previous resolution fixing the charges. In the original resolution the fee for connection on Montana avenue was fixed at $54.88 plus $29.40, the cost of laterals and on Eleventh street the cost was $57.68 with the lateral costs the same as on Montana. The new resolution makes the fees $27.44 and $28.84, respectively, with lateral charges unchanged.

The cost is based on a 56 foot front lot and the resolution provides that for less frontage a proportionate charge is to be made.

The error was due to the fact that after the cost per 56 foot of sewer had been made, the accountant failed to take into account the frontage on both sides of the street and divide the cost by two.

CASH SURPLUS IS NOT LIKELY

Available Funds March 1, Barely Enough to Finish Year

The probability that there would be no cash surplus in the funds of the city at the close of the current fiscal year was pointed out by City Manager F. R. Buechner in a report submitted to the City Commission Monday night. The report showed gross fund balances of $4,957.17 as of February 29 and average monthly expenditures of $5,475.59 during the elapsed eleven months of the year. During the remaining month, however, utility taxes, excess of tax roll, tax penalties and miscellaneous fees will build up the contingent fund sufficiently to prevent a cash overdraft in the tax funds of the city.

The street and sewer fund shows the only overdraft in the report the expenditures having exceeded the receipts by $4,188.33. This overdraft will be further increased this month. According to the report the receipts from taxes and other sources amounted to $16,362.93 while the expenditures have been $20,551.26. For maintainence of the streets and sewers and for other operating costs, such as snow removal, the city has spent a total of $9,726.95 up to March 1, and for permanent improvements a total of $10,824.31 has been expended. During the same eleven months of the previous fiscal year the amount spent for permanent street and sewer improvements was $4,614.74.

The large increase in expenditures for street work over previous years was induced by the desire of the city to provide employment. City Manager Buechner explained, and has prevented an overdraft in the welfare fund. The city has followed the practice, he said, of making a charge for all assistance given indigent families and wherever possible work has been created to make it possible for the persons assisted to repay the city. This system is responsible for the excessive expenditure in the street and sewer fund but at least the city has secured something for the money spent which would not be trued had assistance been given through the welfare fund.

According to the report the following balances were in the various funds at February 29: General, $170.29; Cemetery, $293.36; Police, $410.53; Interest, $446.26; Health, $72.98; Fire, $1,252.82; Welfare, $56.77; Band, $478.13; Park, $118.97; Contingent, $1,657.96.

Supplementing the statement, City Manager Buechner stated that the general fund will likely incur a deficit before the close of the fiscal year, due largely to the fact that extra engineering and drafting work was required incidental to the Ford development and unemployment project planning. The police fund, he continued, will be barely sufficient to complete the fiscal year, depending somewhat on the amount of fines collected during the month of March.

The cemetery, interest, health, fire, and park funds will be adequate to complete the fiscal year. The welfare fund will be overdrawn little, if any.

Menominee Meets Iron River In U. P. Debate Finals

Menominee and Iron River debate teams will meet at Marquette on March 18 in the third elimination debate of the series to determine the championship of the state, according to information received by Prin. C. C. Strickland, of the Gladstone schools. Menominee won from Gladstone in the first elimination debate of the series.

Menominee is to uphold the affirmative side of the question which proposes that the state of Michigan shall make legislative provision for a system of compulsory unemployment insurnace.

The debate for the state championship is to be held at Ann Arbor on April 29.

YMCA Secretary To Speak Here Today

The fair which will be held under the auspices of the Boys Work committee of the Rotary club and under the direction of C. P. Titus, of the Hi-Y club is to be an exhibition of the work and collections of Gladstone boys. Prizes are to be awarded by the Rotary club.

Cards have been distributed this week by Mr. Titus to all boys who have shown an interest on which they will denote the exhibit which each will make.

Dental Clinic—Dr. H. I. Miller, of the Couzens Fund, will conduct another dental clinic at St. Francis hospital Thursday afternoon. Miss Emily Hanson has arranged for eight indigent children to be cared for. Extractions are to be made under anaesthetic.

Legion Committee To Speed Action On Pledged Work

A follow-up campaign to speed action on the $19,000 of pledged jobs, which were secured by the Legion drive committee during the drive which started a week ago, was planned at a meeting of the Legion Employment committee at the Legion club rooms last night.

Chairman O. K. Fjetland of the committee who had called the meeting pointed out that securing of pledges was merely the beginning of the campaign and that to accomplish the purpose for which the drive was started it would be necessary to carry on until the jobs were actually under way. Much of the work pledged, he said, was of a character that would permit immediate action, while other work would have to be delayed until such time as weather conditions would permit.

"Regardless of the nature of the work," he said, "it is important that the committee continue to function without let-up or it will be found that many of the jobs which were pledged with good intention will not be carried out. The ultimate purpose of the campaign should not be forgotten—either we succeed in bringing the country out of the depression into which it has sunk by accomplishing what we set out to do or we sink in the mire that is engulfing the economic structure of the entire nation."

A systematic plan of checking up each individual pledge and a follow-up system which would give accurate information as to the progress of the work was outlined and adopted by the committee. The follow-up campaign is to start at once.

Members of the committee are: Mrs. J. D. McDonald, Mrs. J. D. Staple, Mrs. A. S. Nelson, Mrs. Margaret Kinney, Mrs. J. F. Richardson and Miss Willena Tracy.

Announce Pairings For Basket Tourney

Pairings for the first round in the Senior high school girl's basketball tournament to be played this week have been announced by Miss Elsa Haller, director of physical education for girls in the Gladstone schools. Under the plans of the tourney, two of the grades of Senior high, the Tenth and Twelfth, will hold individual meets to determine the class champions and these champions will meet in the school championship tilts.

The opening game in the Tenth grade will be played between teams captained by Regina Formoe and Margaret Weingartner and the winner of this game will meet the winner of a game between teams captained by Marie Olson and Elsie Johnson. A team captained by Lillian Sloquist will then play the victor of the third game for the class championship.

Three teams are entered in the Twelfth grade contest, the first game being played between Ruth Kee's team and a team captained by Astrid Helman. The winner of this contest must play Annie Skoglquist's team for the class championship.

BY JOHN L. COOLEY
(Associated Press Financial Writer)

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—Selling pressure relaxed in the Stock market today, but there was insufficient buying power to give much tone to the late recovery which reduced or eliminated earlier losses.

Gains and losses were so evenly distributed at the close that the final Standard Statistics-Associated Press composite was unchanged. Nevertheless, fractional declines prevailed in a representative list of leading industrials. Rails were frankly heavy most of the day, but steadied toward the end. Total turnover dropped to 1,471,420 shares.

Carrier stocks dragged downward until the last hour. Chesapeake & Ohio made a new low for the year and, with Santa Fe, was off nearly 2 points net. Missouri Pacific Preferred and Chesapeake Corp. were also soggy. Union Pacific was erratic, but finished fractionally higher. Canadian Pacific, an exception in its group, rallied 1 3-8.

Eastman Holds Firm

Preferred stocks of U. S. Steel, Bethlehem and Jones & Laughlin sagged, although none was particularly active. Common shares of the first two were off about half a point net which was likewise roughly the extent of the decline in Westinghouse, Union Carbide and North American. Small gains for International Telephone, Consolidated Gas, Radio, Standard Oil of New Jersey and several less conspicuous shares helped offset such recessions.

Special interest naturally attached to the Kreuger issues. Grueger & Toll, after selling at 2½, fell back to 2 1-8 where it closed, unchanged. International Match Preferred returned a small gain. Eastman Kodak, closely followed because of George Eastman's suicide, held firm.

Money markets were easy coincident with the March 15 government turnover. The treasury's overdraft was estimated at between $50,000,000 and $60,000,000, comparatively small, and was doubtless absorbed in large measure by member banks.

CHICAGO GRAIN

Chicago, Mar. 15—Somersaulting backward almost 2 cents a bushel from early advances today, wheat made a vigorous late upturn, and finished with losses about overcome.

Transient weakness of securities was largely responsible for the temporary bearish action of wheat, but brisk export demand for wheat from North America had a tonic effect, purchases from Canada and the United States being estimated as high as 2,500,000 bushels.

Wheat closed unsettled at the same as yesterday's finish to 3-8 lower, corn at a shade decline to ¼ advance, oats 1-8 off to 1-8 up, and provisions varying from 10 cents setback to a rise of 2 cents.

Corn and oats imitated the action of wheat. Rural offerings of corn were not so large as of late.

Provisions averaged lower, influenced by downturns in the value of hogs.

Closing indemnities: Wheat—May, 56 7-8 to 57, 58 7-8 to 59; July, 54 3-4 to 7-8, at 55 5-8 and 54 3-4; September, 60 3-4, 62⅝. Corn—May, 38 3-8 to 1/2, 39; July, 40 7-8, 41¼ to 3-8; September, 42, 42½.

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—Uncertainty and irregularity ruled prices in the Bond market today, with the trend generally downward.

The United States government group, for some weeks the leader in improved investment sentiment, finally joined the sagging movement and losses of fractions to nearly a point were recorded by all of these loans except Treasury 4¼s which closed slightly higher.

Issues of the Kreuger companies, which slumped sharply yesterday following the Swedish "match king's" suicide in Paris, rallied substantially at one time but were unable to retain much of their recovery.

The railways again proved discouraging to the followers of this department. A few half-hearted attempts to rally some of these mortgages made but little headway. Several of the Missouri Pacific loans, however, improved as much as 2 3-8 points.

Curb Mart Heavy In Afternoon Trading

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—The Curb market developed a slightly heavy tone in the afternoon trading today after holding fairly steady during the forepart of the session.

The pace of trading slackened, however, and the heaviness appeared to be largely in sympathy with the big board. The turnover was roughly 180,000 shares, off 20,000 from yesterday.

Oils sagged appreciably, coincident with report of increased crude production in east Texas.

Electric Bond and Share was well supported in the utility division, closing at 8, up 1-8. North American Light and Power made its first appearance in this market this year, trading at 10½, less than half the price at which it last sold.

Some of the foreign issues firmed. Industrials generally were dull.

the dime-a-dance girl

"I'm sorry about the Country Club," he said apologetically. "You'd like it much better there, but I'm afraid we'd see people I know and we must wait until later. Anyhow, you want to dance and dance and dance."

"I do," she said again.

* * *

ELLEN was disappointed with the supper club. Steven had wanted a private room. She yielded to his wishes although she really wished to be with the gay and rowdy crowd outside.

Presently the manager brought champagne in a bucket of cracked ice. Ellen had never tasted it before and Steven watched amusedly as she lifted the pale, amber liquid to her lips. He made a wry face at his first sip and left the remainder of the glass unfinished. But Ellen thought the champagne delicious.

Her troubles began to lose substance and she became really gay. Steven was so accustomed to women who were practiced drinkers that he thought her gayety spontaneous and was glad they had come to dance.

After a while when he was called away to the telephone Ellen poured a great deal of champagne for herself and drank it. She knew she was attempting to escape reality and that she must keep that knowledge from Steven. But the important thing was to escape! When he returned, a worried frown between his eyes, and told her that Symes had called the house again it did not seem important or even interesting.

She hardly remembered the hours as they passed. She hardly realized they were leaving and that Steven, deep circles of fatigue beneath his eyes, was adjusting her silver cape about her shoulders, paying a check and leading her through a brightly lighted room filled with noisy people.

Out in the cold night air her head cleared instantly. Her fears were back. Silently she got into the car and was silent as they drove away.

"All right, Ellen?" Steven asked.

She thrust cold hands into her cuffs so that he should not claim them. "I'm all right," she said, adding in a shamed voice, "I took some of the champagne when you were out of the room."

He laughed and called her an audacious child.

They were back at the house again, stealing like conspirators into the great, dark living room and up the stairs. He was whispering to her in the darkness, intimately, tenderly.

Steel Price To Be Advanced $2 Ton

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—The World-Telegram says that finished steel prices in all districts will be advanced $2 a ton on April 1.

The Inland Steel Co. has taken the lead in the upward revision announcing today a raise of that amount on steel sheet quotations for the second quarter.

It was stated that inquiry among the large producers brought forth the information that the industry as a whole is committed to the increase and that it will include sheets and bars, representing about half of the industry's total tonnage of finished products, and may include most other finished items.

It was also said that producers feel that the projected rise may have helpful effects in breaking down the price cutting that has been waged in the industry since last November.

A New York Coffee & Sugar Exchange seat sold today at $4,000, an increase of $500 over the previous sale.

Plans Being Laid for Volley Ball Tournament

TWO BRACKETS WILL BE MADE

Weaker Teams Will Play In Tourney Separate From Better Teams

At a meeting of managers of volley ball teams in the Escanaba league held at the junior high school last evening, it was decided that a tournament in which the 16 teams of the city will participate will be held. Although no definite dates for the tournament were selected, it was agreed that the meeting would be a three-day event. Managers recommended Wednesday, Thursday, and Friday of the first week in April which would be April 6, 7 and 8.

According to the plans suggested last night, the present league would be split into two brackets for the tournament with the first eight place teams in the league meeting in one tournament and the lower eight place teams in the league meeting in another tournament. This plan was suggested in order to balance the tournament and give the weaker teams more incentive for tournament competition.

Consolation games will probably also be played with the losers in the first round play of both brackets beginning play for consolation honors.

The same rules that governed the volley ball play in the league will be used for the tournament games. Details of the tournament will be worked out by Harold Gessner and W. J. Duchaine in cooperation with R. E. Cheney, superintendent of schools.

The league play in the volley ball games will be ended next Monday when each team in the 16-team circuit will have played the other once in league competition.

Borotra Wealthy, But He Owes It to Pumps, Not Tennis

New York, (AP)—Jean Borotra, French tennis star, was just a poor young man, struggling to get a foothold on the financial ladder, when he first visited this country ten years ago.

Today the bounding basque is rated a millionaire several times over, and he owes none of it to his prowess with a racquet.

On that first visit to these shores he remained a month longer than his comrades. He thought it might be his last trip across, and he wanted to see everything. He noticed that pressure water pumps were widely used in this country and wondered, idly, why he hadn't seen any of them in his own France.

Upon his return home he made inquiries, which culminated in his being named representative for a firm manufacturing the pumps.

He threw himself into the business with the same tireless energy that characterizes his play on the court and has built his modest start into a fortune.

Several bids of $1 for the old courthouse and jail at Amarillo, Tex., were rejected by the board of commissioners.

Twenty-eight percent of the coeds in Indiana university are working their own way through college.

RUTH EXPECTED TO SIGN TODAY

Bambino Will Probably Take One-Year Contract at $75,000

St. Petersburg, Fla., Mar. 15 (AP)—Unless there is an unforeseen hitch in the great salary conference under the palms, Babe Ruth will sign a one year contract with the New York Yankees tomorrow at $75,000, a cut of $5,000.

This will mean a compromise between Ruth's demand and Colonel Jacob Ruppert's original offer, if it is finally agreed upon.

The Colonel and the Babe, after another short talk today, agreed to meet at Ruth's hotel at 11 a. m. tomorrow, at which time each expects to settle their leisurely and friendly differences.

This was specified so that all the correspondents, photographers and movie outfits with sound will have adequate opportunity to prepare for the proper recording of the momentous event.

Neither the Colonel nor the Babe would admit that an understanding had been reached, or a compromise effected, but there was every indication of a trend toward peace, harmony and relief for the weary watchers.

Ruth and Ruppert conferred, with a wire screen between them, at Water Front park here, prior to the exhibition game between the Yankees and Boston Braves. The Babe was in uniform and worked out but did not go back to the line up. He has refused to play in any exhibition games until actually signed.

HARLEM BOYS DELIGHT FANS

Colored Cage Team Plays Escanaba Rangers Here Friday

While ticket sale for the Escanaba Ranger-Harlem Globe Trotter basketball game was started yesterday with the first day results better than anticipated, Manager Harold Gessner issued another call for Ranger basketball practice for this evening to prepare the Escanaba combination for the attack of the famous colored cagers.

Mixing clever antics and expert ball handling with a brand of basketball that is flashy and brilliant, the Harlem Globe Trotters have built up a reputation as one of the outstanding athletic attractions in the country and in most cases one engagement in a town means a call for a return booking.

Ironwood booked the Globe Trotters early this season and the colored boys gave such an enjoyable performance that the Gogebic range fans clamored for more of them. As a result the negro boys played a return booking this week. The Globe Trotters won both games against the U. P. Teachers, an all-star team composed of such players as Eddie Chambers, Mark Almli, Faust Ferzacca, Schuler, and Danschroeder.

Most of the tickets that were sold yesterday were for reserved seats. There are 258 reserved seats in the Coliseum and this number and no more will be sold for Friday evening's battle. Indications from the first day sale points toward a sellout of these reserved seats long before the door opens to admit the first customers on Friday evening.

Town Is Planning For 200th Birthday

Ste. Genevieve, Mo. (AP)—This community, oldest permanent white settlement in the vast area which was once the upper Louisiana Territory, is making plans to celebrate the two hundredth anniversary of its birth.

Although the observance will not be held until 1935, committees on organization already have been appointed with a view to enlisting state-wide co-operation.

Many buildings in Ste. Genevieve date back to the flood of 1785, and descendants of the first French settlers are still numerous among residents of the town.

Carey Figures Swap Strengthens Brooklyn

BY ALAN GOULD
(Associated Press Sports Editor)

Clearwater, Fla., March 15 (AP)—Manhattan's babe of baseball has lost his Brooklyn rival in the major league outfield circus with the sudden passing of Babe Herman to Cincinnati, but the flatbush flock presents an extraordinary assortment of talent for 1932, nevertheless.

It includes the "boy wonder" of the 1921 world series, the National league batting champion of 1929, the major league home run king of 1930 and the oldest pitcher in the big show. From left to right in the Brooklyn ensemble these roles are filled by Waite Hoyt, Frank (Left) O'Doul, Lewis Robert (Hackenschmidt) Wilson and John Pieus Quinn.

Hoyt's projected comeback, bearing all the earmarks of serious intent, may inject just the tonic the Dodger pitching staff needs. Wilson, upon whose return to form the club staked around $60,000, is figured to fill Herman's place as the slugging mate of O'Doul.

Cuccinello Signs

Manager Max Carey's risk of having two holdouts, Joe Stripp and Tony Cuccinello, instead of one, Herman, as a result of his trade with Cincinnati, was reduced by half today as Cuccinello signed a contract in New York. There was little prospect that Stripp would fail to come to terms with his new first-division employer.

Carey, in fact was so enthusiastic today with his share in the six player swap that he permitted himself, for the first time to remark that Brooklyn now has "a real chance for the pennant."

The club loses a colorful figure of the Robinsonian era in Herman but the Babe's holdout tactics, after falling off in his batting from .393 in 1930 to .313 in 1931, prompted the owners to close quickly on the trade suggested by the Reds.

For the first time Carey now figures definitely on his starting lineup. With Stripp on third and Cuccinello, a New York boy, at second base, the infield will be completed with Glenn Wright at short and Del Bissonette on first. Mickey Finn, Fresco Thompson, Gordon Slade and Bobby Reis, the young third base star from Hartford, Conn., will be in reserve.

Johnny Frederick, O'Doul and Wilson probably will get the outfield assignments.

The camp bulges with pitchers of all ages, and description, from 20-year-old Van Mungo, most promising of the five Hartford recruits, to 38-year-old Dazzy Vance and the venerable Quinn. Hoyt and Watson Clark, the talented southpaw, should do heavy duty. "Pea Ridge" Day, the Arkansas hog caller, has shown good stuff. Fred Heimach, Hollis Thurston, Babe Phelps and Joe Shaute have experience; Krider, Mattingly, Gallivan, Jones and Austin Moore, youth and promise. Carey probably will split the difference in making his final choices.

Behind the bat, Al Lopez will be assisted by Clyde Suketorth obtained from the Reds to replace Ernest Lombardi, as well as Val Picnich.

SPARTAN TRACK ACE TO BE BUSY

Chamberlain Will Compete in Four Meets In Next Few Weeks

East Lansing, Mich., Mar. 15 (AP)—Clark S. Chamberlain, Michigan State distance ace who failed last Saturday in his attempt at South Bend, to establish a new collegiate two-mile record, announced today he will continue along a track trail which he hopes will take him to the Olympic meet next summer.

Chamberlain, whose college competitive days are near an end, revealed tentative plans to compete in four more meets during the next few weeks. The first will take him to the indoor relay carnival Saturday of the University of Toledo.

The wiry cross-country titleholder will form the main cog of a distance medley relay team for state at the Toledo competition. Roger Keast or Don Hovey will get the call for the 440-yard lap, Ken Warren probably will run the half mile and Walter Wissner or Otto Pongrace, the three-quarter mile lap.

Chamberlain also expects to compete in the Cleveland relay carnival March 26, the Armour Tech relays the following week and the Drake relays early in April.

Neither Chamberlain nor his coach, Lauren P. Brown, was discouraged by the star's inability to break the two mile record and his defeat in his favorite event by Dick Pilbrow, of Grinnell. The State ace became confused near the finish thinking he had lapped Pilbrow who passed him to win the race. Chamberlain has defeated Pilbrow on at least two other occasions.

UPBAY FIVE HAS GOOD RECORD

Marble Arms Promises Real Opposition for Manistique

With a record of seven games won and only one defeat during the season, the Marble Arms independent basketball team will be a formidable opponent for the fast Manistique squad when they meet at the high school gym here tonight. Manistique also has an impressive record for the season, having lost but once during the year, being defeated one of two games by the Escanaba Rangers.

This game, the first appearance of the Gladstone team on the home floor was arranged through an agreement with the school board that the net proceeds from the match would go toward the Marble Athletic field fund. Members of the team, all of whom are former members of Gladstone high school basketball teams, have worked out at the gym during the season and arranged this game as an appreciation to the school for this privilege and also for the purpose of giving the home folks an opportunity to see them in action.

Preceding the Marble Arms-Manistique game, a preliminary between the Rapid River Trojans and the Escanaba Wolverines will be played. This game will start at 7:30.

An added attraction will be the initial appearance of a German band, composed of high school students who will play before the games and between halves. Members of this organization are: Keith Fjetland, bass; Hercules Rouman, cornet; Allan Mathison, trombone; Jack Staple, clarinet; Bob Sliming, drum; Elof Kinnie, alto; Guy Freeman, director.

The record of the Gladstone team includes victories over the Escanaba Dictators, 14-6; Rapid River Trojans, 34-15; Escanaba Wolverines, 15-14; Rock Spartans, 43-29; Houghton Tech Frosh, 32-27; L'Anse Cardinals, 29-19; and Republic Red Devils, 38-27. The one game lost was to the Manistique Legion by a score of 42-49.

The starting line-up will be O'Brien at center; Rouman, Skogquist or Jahnke at forwards; Skellenger and Murray at guards and with three capable subs including John Potvin, recently recruited from the high school squad, Jim Cannon and Joe Kernz ready for action.

Borotra and Bell Reach Quarterfinal

New York, Mar. 15 (AP)—The national indoor tennis meet, a bulky business to begin with, began to get somewhere today as Jean Borotra, France's old master, and Berkeley Bell, one of America's chief hopes, battled through to the quarterfinal round.

Stealing a lap on the remainder of the singles survivors, who were busy getting the doubles program under way, Borotra eliminated young Eddie Jacobs, of Baltimore, 7-5, -3, and Bell erased Ernest Koslan, of Hamilton, N. Y., -2, 6-1.

As a result, Borotra and Bell will clash in tomorrow's feature match, the winner to enter the semi-finals for the crown the Frenchman now holds.

Short Wave Radio Station Operates Out of Escanaba

"Amateur radio is one of the finest and cleanest hobbies known today. That's the way I feel about it," says Roy Brown, 19, of 315 South 16th St., Escanaba, owner and operator of short wave station W9FSK, licensed under amateur radio license issued October 9, 1931. The two most distant contacts made so far are Los Angeles, Calif., and Miami, Fla.

Brown's station first went on the air Nov. 25, 1931, the delay being due to a fulty transmitter. He has a completely home constructed station, and at the present time he lists his apparatus as follows:

"The transmitter uses two 210 type tubes in a push-pull circuit with a plate voltage of about 400 volts (RAC) although a higher voltage power supply will be installed in the near future. The transmitting antenna is a well known type called the "zeppelin" feed system. A separate antenna is used for the receiver, which is an AC type using three tubes—two 224's and one 227. "B" batteries supply the necessary plate voltage. The only other apparatus in use is a monitor which provides a constant check on the transmitter frequency and also is used to determine quality of the outgoing signal."

"No exceptional work has been accomplished in the line of distant contacts," Brown reports, "due to low power and very poor weather conditions."

W9FSK has been in contact with all of the nine districts in the United States and three in Canada. About 36 states of the 48 have been contacted.

The local station operator says that most of the time in operation is spent in "rag-chewing" with "hams" all over the United States and Canada. Messages are never turned down, and are always welcome. These messages are sent free anywhere.

GARDEN NEWS

Garden, Mich., March 15, (Special)—Lambs are appearing on the Garden Peninsula. Several appeared on the L. P. Petersen farm at Burnt Bluff in February. On the John Watchorn farm at Fayette. About seventy ewes have been wintered which is perhaps the largest flock of any in the district. Lambs are just arriving at this time, but they made their appearance at an unfortunate time when the weather was extremely cold. A number of the little arrivals were brought into the home in order that they might be given better care. In spite of the extra care, a number of them are dying. It is found also that lambs arriving during such cold weather are often disowned by their mothers.

William Laux was in the Fayette district Friday. He came here direct from the Lake Superior district. He was agreeably surprised to find so little snow in his home district. He stated that the banks of snow were piled as high as his car in the district where he had so recently been working.

Judging from the decreased attendance at local schools, the flu seems to be making another attack on local children. A number of children were out of school during the past week on account of a recurrence of the ailment. Fortunately it is not nearly so widespread as the former attack.

Fallen Timber Is Utilized In Park Buildings

Windfalls, rotted trees and those that are a menace to safety are cut in Michigan's state parks—yet they furnish annually thousands of board feet of lumber that are used in park improvement work.

Living trees are not cut in the state parks except to make room for buildings and roads. However, in many of the parks that have large areas of virgin timber, such as the Interlochen, Hartwick Pines, and the F. W. Fletcher, trees are constantly dying and falling. When there are indications that dead trees may fall, the trees are cut, not only to protect visitors that may be passing, but to protect other streets that might be destroyed as the old tree fell. Much of the timber taken from the fallen tree can be utilized and is cut into lumber to be used in the park.

Years ago much of the Interlochen Park area was burned by forest fires. Huge virgin trees were touched by the fire at the base and rot set in. As a result the loss of these trees in this park has been large, compared with the number of fallen virgin pines in the Fletcher and Hartwick Pines Parks.

In parks in which there is considerable virgin timber, much of the equipment and buildings have been constructed from lumber manufactured from windfalls and fallen trees, at a considerable savings to the Department of Conservation. Parts of trees that are not suited for lumber are cut up into stove wood for the use of campers and the park superintendent.
